Due to the question regarding the fees that have been frequently asked, please allow us to also further explaining it to you beforehand.

Because of the extra transaction fee required for each international transaction, we strongly suggest partner university to contact and assist the students on the fee remittance process and transferring them together. It can lower the total paid fee to a certain degree. For both partner university and the students' benefit.

We had made a little formula explaining it in a more visual way. All the result price doesn't include the extra transaction fee home country takes for international transfer since it's different for every country and banks.

If universities help students with the transaction

$$\text{US$? (the amount your country takes to transfer internationally)} + 10 \text{ students} * \text{US$10 (certificate and transcript for each program)} + \text{US$10 (what Taiwan takes to accept transfer internationally)} = \text{US$11 minimum/per person}$$

If students make the transaction on their own

$$\text{US$? (the amount your country takes to transfer internationally)} + 1 \text{ student} * \text{US$10 (certificate and transcript for each program)} + \text{US$10 (what Taiwan takes to accept transfer internationally)} = \text{US$20 minimum/per person}$$

For students that may be interested in taking 2 programs, students would be paying US$30 minimum

$$\text{US$? (the amount your country takes to transfer internationally)} + 1 \text{ student} * \text{US$10 (certificate and transcript for each program)} * 2 \text{ (programs)} + \text{US$10 (what Taiwan takes to accept transfer internationally)} = \text{US$30 minimum/per person}$$

Thank you for your attention.
